- Ideal for capping drainage pipes off to conduct air and watertight tests
- Wide range of sizes

Fernco rubber End Caps are ideal for capping pipe ends, cleanouts and open test pipes. Suitable for both above and below ground applications, Fernco end caps can be used on any pipe material.

Fernco End Caps, made from EPDM and stainless steel, are ideal for permanently or temporarily capping pipe ends of low pressure pipes of any material.

The flexible nature of the material combined with the strength of the stainless steel clamp band ensures a size range that can fit a multitude of pipe diameters. The concave face allows the cap to withstand greater pressure and minimises ballooning.

Fernco End Caps are suitable to be used for both air and water testing of drainage pipelines.

The caps can be supplied with an Air Test Nipple as pictured.
